HATS IN THE RING.
When April Fool's day comes again—
And it will be here passing quick—
The ring will then be full of hats,
And every hat will hide a brick.

—Denver Republican.

At which, for that one day, at least,
It will be like as not be found,
That though we may not be for Ted,
We cannot kick his hat around.

—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

But we can fool around the ring
And find out surely where we're at,
It may be we'll steal Teddy's dog
And just recall his durned old hat.

NO WORDS WASTED

A Swift Transformation Briefly Described

About food, the following brief but emphatic letter from a Georgia woman goes straight to the point and is convincing.
"My frequent attacks of indigestion and palpitation of the heart culminated in a sudden and desperate illness, from which I arose feeble in mind and body. The doctor advised me to live on cereals, but none of them agreed with me until I tried Grape-Nuts food and Postum.

"The more I used of them the more I felt convinced that they were just what I needed, and in a short time they made a different woman of me. My stomach and heart troubles disappeared as if by magic, and my mind was restored and is as clear as it ever was.

"I gained flesh and strength so rapidly that my friends were astonished. Postum and Grape-Nuts have benefited me so greatly that I am glad to bear this testimony." Name given by Postum Cereal Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book "The Road to Wellville," in page.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

River Still Coming Up

The Ohio river reached the danger line at this point this morning; the gauge marks a stage of 49.4 and raising slowly, and will reach, as stated in yesterday's LEDGER, 50 feet and over.

The water on the Ohio side is over the bank in places and with the water still to come will lap the sidewalks in Aberdeen.

The dwellers on Front street in Aberdeen will escape inundation in their homes by a slight margin, for which, no doubt, they are truly thankful.

The river will remain in the neighborhood of its present stage for several days, provided the present favorable weather continues.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Pursuant to a call of the Republican State Central Committee there will be a Republican County Convention at the Court House in the City of Maysville, Ky., on April 6th, 1912, at 1:30 p. m. for the purpose of selecting delegates to the District Convention which meets at Maysville on April 9th, 1912, and the State Convention which meets at Louisville, Ky., April 10th, 1912.

All Republicans are requested to keep this date in mind and be present at the convention.

H. P. FURNELL, Chairman
Mason County Republican Committee.
Maysville, Ky., March 25th, 1912.

PRESIDENT TAFT probably will not appoint a successor to Dr. HARVEY W. WILEY, of the Bureau of Chemistry, for several weeks.

THE general lack of enthusiasm that has been noted since the Columbus speech seems ominous. It seems to portend a cold shoulder for Colonel ROOSEVELT at the convention. His egotism led him to believe that he would sweep the country with furore and capture the delegates if only he announced. There is a great difference, as Mr. BRYAN has learned, between tremendous personal popularity and great political strength. Colonel ROOSEVELT has had both, but it seems that he has left nothing more than popularity.—Frankfort News-Journal.

What has the egregious Beveridge been about? Where is the evidence of his powerful influence? Not long ago, with huge headlines, insurgent newspapers announced that Beveridge had come out for Roosevelt.

Indiana was confidently claimed as reeking with insurgency. But the primaries at Indianapolis are a better test than insurgent newspaper claims. The primaries at Indianapolis have defeated Roosevelt delegates and elected Taft delegates by majorities of an old-fashioned landslide character.

It means a great deal, for the people of Indiana are famous politicians and their predilections in the Presidential years are looked upon as straws indicating which way the wind is blowing. It is not a Roosevelt wind that is blowing in Indianapolis. The fact is the Roosevelt candidacy has fallen very flat, and the ex-President by this time must be convinced that he made a mistake.—Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin.

ATTENTION, MEN!

Let McNamara make your Spring Suit. I represent E. W. Price & Co. of Chicago, the strongest line of made-to-measure clothes in the world at popular prices. They specialize on suits made as you want them from $15 to $25. Others must ask $30 to $40 for the same. This is the only house in the United States strong enough financially to control its own pattern, thus assuring you against being overcharged. Aside from the staples, no two patterns alike. Men, this line is a repeater. Remember, we dry clean; others try.

How would you like to be the coal man? Since the world-wide strikes the coal operators and large dealers have sold their stocks at an immense profit.

MR. TAFT is basing his campaign for renomination on a clear and dispassionate interpretation of the problems of the present day and his explanation of the danger of "soap box" Presidential preference primaries is certain to strengthen him with all thinking people.—Washington Post.

SENATOR BRADLEY is not the kind of man to get frightened over the use of a reasonable amount of "Long Green" by the opposition in Kentucky, nor is he frightened now. He is simply amazed over the reports that are coming to him of the money that is being turned loose in the Blue Grass commonwealth in the interest of Colonel ROOSEVELT. "There are oceans of it," said the Senator. "It's our worst handicap. I am getting reports from every locality in Kentucky and I speak advisedly when I say that oceans of money are being turned loose in aid of Colonel ROOSEVELT's candidacy."—Washington Cor. Louisville Herald.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Before a thief gets around to the "big haul" that will make him rich he lands in jail and loses his chance.

The man who is a "problem" should work it himself.

Were bill collectors not restrained by a rule that they must not "talk back," they could say meaner things than any other class of people.

In doing nothing you take up the time of busy people.

Every man occasionally thinks he has made a discovery as important as that of Columbus. Some people are always looking for an outrage to scream about.

A woman wore mourning only two weeks, and some of the neighbors protested. "Well," she said, "I didn't have as much to mourn about as some: Bill wasn't much."

A farmhand who had worked in the fields from dawn until darkness was doing the chores by lantern light. "I'm going to quit," he said to the farmer, "at the end of the month. You promised me a steady job when I came here."

"Well, haven't you got one?" was the astonished reply.

"No," said the man, "there are three or four hours every night that I don't have anything to do and fool away my time sleeping."

Charles D. Hillis has been selected for chairman of the Republican National Committee in the event of President Taft's renomination, which now seems assured.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help, Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer."

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm. There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles.

HAPPENINGS IN THE CITIES

Veteran and Bride Face Want for Love

KANSAS CITY.—Expelled from the Confederate Home at Higginsville because they became engaged and were married several weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Starns, both past 70 years old, came to try their future in Kansas City the other morning. The aged couple had just 15 cents when they arrived at the court house to apply for admission to the county home. Two small telescope suitcases contained all their worldly goods.

Mr. Starns told fondly about the romance of a few weeks and the courtship "on the sly" in the Confederate Home.

"You know, I was in Senator Cockrell's brigade and saw hard service in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia during the four years of the Civil war," Mr. Starns said. "I went to the Confederate Home eight years ago from Jackson county. There I met W. B. Ellis, my wife's first husband. He died two years ago and his widow continued a resident of the home. She became ill five months ago and I was assigned to wait on her."

"Well, we just got to talking to each other and decided that if younger folks could get married there wasn't any crime for older ones to do the same. I wanted a wife and she wanted a husband and we made up our minds that if we had to be thrown out into the cold world or anywhere else we would get married. I found that my heart was just as susceptible to love as when I was a youth and a whole regiment of Yankees couldn't have stopped us, either."

"There were two other couples in the Confederate Home who wanted to get married. But there was a ban on marriage in the home. Five days ago, a little more than a month after we were married, we were told we would have to move out. My wife had asthma and I wasn't able to work, so we were hard pressed for a place to stay and something to eat. Now we have found a home where it isn't any crime to be married."

The bride and groom were assigned to a room at the county home. Mrs. Starns has lived in Jackson county more than forty years. Mr. Starns has been a resident of Missouri 70 years.

Times Are Bad for Steamship Barbers

NEW YORK.—Barbers on Atlantic liners are now complaining about safety razors, which have reduced their profits to such an extent that they have been compelled to eke out a living by selling all kinds of notions, from Bibles to chewing gum. In the palm days barbers were inclined to regard with scorn and to keep waiting the passenger who shaved himself and only came to the shop for a hair cut. On the White Star line the daily rush for shaves among first cabin passengers was recognized by the company, and one of its rules, 403, section 8, read:

"Barbers of the White Star steamships are not allowed to cut passengers' hair before noon."

All morning the barbers were kept busy, and in the afternoon from 4 o'clock until dinner time, scraping the chins of passengers who would not take a chance of cutting themselves with the old-fashioned razors as the ship pitched up and down or rolled from side to side.

Now many passengers shave themselves, whether it is rough or smooth, and never patronize the barber's shop unless the ship is over toward her beam ends, which is the time the barber doesn't want to shave any one.

Owing to this decline of business the steamship companies have had to reduce the rents charged for the barbers' shops on their liners, and in some cases they have had to pay as much as $40 a month to get the professors of the tonsorial art to go to sea. Rene de Sans Souci, one of the most dignified sea-going barbers, said:

"Yes, it is very sad, triste, eh, for ze artiste of ze cheveuux to the sea in big sheeps for many days without making the razor on face to go. I am desole because for the rent and my expenses."

Sam Skeggs, another roving barber, well known from the Hudson to the Yukon, said that the barber business on board ship since the advent of the safety razor gave him the fantods. "All I can do today," said he, "is to cut hair and trim whiskers of pious travelers who do not know how to spend money or give tips."

New Plan for Classifying Prisoners

PITTSBURG.—Warden Edward Lewis of the county jail is thinking of applying to Andrew Carnegie in the hope of getting him to donate a library filled with literary classics in order to supply brain food for a number of real "high brows" now in confinement. The prison library has been found absolutely insufficient to supply the requirements of these highly intellectual prisoners, and the prize for having such a select body must now come to this city, instead of to the historic old Charleston jail of cultured and astute Boston, which has hitherto held the honor over all the cities of the country.

"A city or county jail is about the last place in the world," said Deputy Warden John McNeill, "that anyone would seek for a batch of the real, simon pure intellectual giants known as 'high brows,' but we have a collection that is a wonder. The literary talent and linguistic power of some of these prisoners is simply marvelous, and the strange part of it is how men of such profound knowledge are not otherwise brainy enough to keep out of jail. If the average receipt of such prisoners is maintained it will be a strong argument for the 'low brows' side, of whom we have a big population."

All told, there are a score of prisoners now doing time in the prison who are able to converse fluently in half a dozen languages.

As convincing proof of this, a prisoner of Polish birth was brought out to converse with an attaché of the district attorney's office. The latter is somewhat of a linguist and boasts of being able to converse in 12 different languages. The prisoner, who was formerly engaged as a foreign banker, just went the young attorney three better. He demonstrated to the listeners that he was as familiar with 15 different tongues as he is with his native chatter. There are others in jail equally fluent, too.

All of these prisoners demand high-class literature to peruse in their idle moments.

"Mammy" Takes Son's Garb to Prison

ATLANTA, Ga.—"Dis here's fer my boy. I hear he's gwine out to de gang ergin," said an old negro mammy the other day at the grill door of the Tower.

She carried an old basket made of "splits," which she handed Deputy Sheriff John Suttles as he opened the door. It was covered with a newspaper, neatly folded, which he lifted at one corner.

"Why, what's this?" asked the jailer in surprise as he saw inside a suit of baggy clothes, alternately striped with broad bands of black and white, the uniform of a Georgia convict.

"It's his suit," she explained. You see, hit's dis way: Dat boy allus was overgrown for his age, an' when he first went out to de roads he was pow'ful uncomf'able 'cause de clothes what he had wazn't like what his mammy used ter make. Dey was all skimpy in de waist, and de pants was tight. Why, he said he jes had ter pull an' tug every time he put 'em on, and he shirts ain't had no tails at all."

min' so much de work, an' when his time was out dey let him bring it home. Dat's dem. He'll want 'em ergin, I'm sho, an' his ol' mammy will be satersfied about him."

"When was he arrested and what's his name?"

"What's his name? Oh, Julius Willyums. I ain't knowin' when he was 'rested, but I ain't seen him in er month, so I knows he's in jail. I wants him ter be fixed up right when he goes out. You'll give 'em to him?"

The promise was made on the spot and the old woman left "satersfied." When the basket was examined it contained the suit of stripes, generously made, an old broad-brim hat that will keep the sun out of the eyes, and a pound cake with fancy icing. It was clearly of the kind that mother used

The burdens a woman has to carry through life are many but they can be lightened if she will turn to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A soothing and strengthening nerve—subduing nervous excitability, prostration, hysteria, hot-flashes and the many symptoms which may be caused by distressing ill health to women. For those "dragging-down" pains or distress or for the derangements and irregularities of the "Favorite Prescription" has had many thousands of testimonials from people living in every part of America. Another important thing to every woman is that this medicine is made from efficient medicinal roots, without the use of alcohol, narcotics, or any injurious agents. Full list of ingredients given on bottle-wrapper and sworn to by Dr. R. V. Pierce—who is President of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Every woman is invited to write to this Institute and receive confidential and sound medical advice, entirely without cost from one who makes the diseases of women his specialty.

Mrs. MORRELL.

"I can cheerfully recommend your remedies, especially your 'Favorite Prescription,' for all female disorders," writes Mrs. M. M. Morrell, of Bluff City, Tenn., Route 2. "During the past seven years I suffered from pains in the back and ovaries. Tried many remedies but found only transient relief until I was persuaded by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After giving it a fair trial, I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies for all female derangements."

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound in perfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

THE WORLD'S MOST PERFECT EAR OF CORN
The Unique Story of its Discovery
PLANS FOR THE GREAT NATIONAL CORN SHOW IN 1913

"Just a countryman—that's all," is the way the grower of this remarkable ear of corn, Mr. Fred C. Palin, styles himself. Though he is admitted to be one of the leading corn experts in the country—one whose services are greatly in demand as a judge of corn exhibits, Mr. Palin asks for no greater honor or distinction than to be known as a plain Hoosier farmer, and while he openly professes a reasonable pride in the achievement of growing the famous ear of corn which was adjudged the most perfect ever grown, it is without a shadow of ostentation.

The champion ear of corn was not an accident. There can be no greater lesson in the value of careful study and painstaking selection of seed and breeding than the experiences of this name Palin. The farmer who thinks he stands a chance to go into his corn field and by a piece of luck pick out an ear which nature has fashioned even more perfectly and with it wrest the honors from this Indiana man, cannot do better to disabuse his mind of this fallacious notion than to read the story of Palin and his champion ear.

FRED C. PALIN.

In the first place, Palin knows corn. If there were no more proof of this fact than the bare story of the development and discovery of the champion ear, it would be enough. And in proof of this fact, here is the story as he told himself:

"It was in November, 1910, and we were just harvesting our crop. The weather had been good, but we were a little late with the harvest. The men were going through the fields with the wagon in the usual way gathering the corn, and the harvest was a promising one.

"We have a sort of corn show at my farm all the time, and there is always an award for exceptionally good ears of corn—ears sufficiently true to type to permit of their being exhibited. There is a small box on every corn wagon in which the most perfect ears are thrown. These, when properly selected, constitute the seed corn and among these more perfect ears we occasionally find an ear that we are willing to exhibit in a contest.

"On the day the champion ear was found, I was at the house and at dinner time one of the men brought it in and laid it, with a number of other ears, upon the window sill in the well room for me to take and put away in the seed house.

"Well," I said, "do you think you've got a good ear there?"

"It looks to me like a good ear," he said.

"What do you think of it?"

"I picked it up and looked it over. 'Well,' I said finally, 'I think it is the most perfect ear of corn I ever saw. It's good enough to win the W. K. Kellogg trophy this year at Omaha.'"

WITNESS AFTER WITNESS IN MAYSVILLE

SUCH EVIDENCE OUR READERS CANNOT DISPUTE

As we take up THE LEDGER week by week, we are struck by the hearty, unmistakable way in which witnesses after witness speaks out as Mrs. McClelland does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors, living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others. What's The Matter With Your Baby?

The young mother—and many an old one, too—is often puzzled to know the cause of her child's ill nature. The loudness of its crying does not necessarily indicate the seriousness of its trouble. It may have nothing more the matter with it than a headache or a feeling of general dullness. It cannot, of course, describe its feelings, but as a preliminary measure you are safe in trying a mild laxative.

Nine times out of ten, you will find it is all the child needs, for its restlessness and peevishness are perhaps due to obstruction of the bowels, and once that has been remedied the headache, the sluggishness and the many other evidences of constipation and indigestion will quickly disappear.

Don't give the little one salts, cathartic pills or nasty waters, for these will set an purgatives, and they are too strong for a child. In the families of

All Schools in Mason County Dismissed to See Big Exhibit

The Kentucky exhibition train of native farm products left Lexington yesterday morning on its State-wide tour of education and will arrive at the C. and O. depot in Maysville tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Dover will come 50 strong, while the seven big Mayslick transportation school wagons and one from Minerva are coming loaded with 300 pupils and teachers.

Verily, it will be one of the most important occasions for the children and farmers of Mason county ever held.

The agricultural train consists of seven coaches and a flat car for demonstration purposes and will visit seventy counties.

The train in all its appointments is a veritable agricultural college and experiment station on wheels: Seeds and soils, fertilizers, soil fertility, how to grow alfalfa, soiling crops, the value of ensilage, testing seeds, chemical analysis of soils, etc., etc.

The train is in charge of J. W. Newman, State Commissioner of Agriculture, and Prof. Thompson R. Bryant, a member of the Kentucky Experiment Station staff.

President H. S. Barker of State University is a member of the party and will tell the people of the great work the University is doing for her sons, her daughters and for the advancement of her natural resources.

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physics Cause Distressing Complaints

You cannot be over careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after effects that are frequently health-destroying.

I personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which I know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. I have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that I sell it on my guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and I urge all in need of such medicine to try it at my risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly relieve constipation, of course, when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at my store—The Rexall Store. Thos. J. Chenoweth, corner Second and Sutton streets.
